Tennessee Concrete Pavement Conference

Willis Conference Center
26 Century Boulevard
Nashville, Tennessee 37214

January 21-22, 2009

I-75 in Chattanooga

Sponsored by:

Tennessee Department of Transportation

Concrete Paving Association of Tennessee

CONFERENCE INFORMATION

The Concrete Pavement Industry begins 2009 with hopeful optimism regarding the current local and national attention on needed transportation funding. High quality roads and highways, as we all know, provide a vital, yet often unrecognized role in our state and regional economies, and our overall quality of life. Concrete pavements can help our state and local governments meet their infrastructure needs by providing competitive initial costs, long-life performance, and low maintenance pavements. Concrete pavements truly are the Right Choice, Right Now!

Topics to be covered include the progress on I-75 in Chattanooga, the sustainability aspects of concrete pavements, and pavement noise state-of-the-art presentations. Experiences from projects in bordering states including Kentucky, Missouri, and North Carolina will provide insight on current best practices with concrete pavement solutions. I encourage you to attend the 2009 Tennessee Concrete Pavement Conference in Nashville.

Cordially,
Andrew Maybee, P.E., Executive Director
Concrete Paving Association of Tennessee (CPAT)
